Introduction

Welcome to Work on your Grammar – Advanced (C1)

Is this the right book for me?

This book, Work on your Grammar – Advanced (C1), helps students to learn and practise English grammar at CEF level C1. This book is suitable for you to use if you are at CEF level C1, or just below.

So, what is CEF level C1? Well, there are six Common European Framework levels. They go up from A1 for beginners, A2, B1, B2, C1 and finally C2.

If the description below sounds like you, then this is probably the right book for you. If not, choose Work on your Grammar – Upper Intermediate (B2) (below this level).

- I can understand a wide range of texts and I can follow what almost everyone says, whether directly to me or on the TV and so on.
- I can express my feelings, opinions and ideas quite fluently.
- I can adjust to different situations in using English, for example from academic to work-based to social situations.
- When I write or speak, I can use a range of different grammatical structures and patterns.
- I'm aware that there are gaps in my knowledge and I make mistakes from time to time.

What does this book contain?

This book contains 30 units to help you learn and practise important grammar for this Advanced (C1) level.

Each unit explains the grammar point and then there is a series of exercises that gives you useful practice in this particular area. The exercises are there to help you really understand the grammar point and how to use it correctly. There are different types of exercise. This helps you to see different aspects of the grammar, and it means you have a range of practice to do.

The answers to all the exercises are at the back of the book.

Remember! boxes highlight important information about the grammar points, so it is a good idea to read them and think about them.

I'm a student: how can I use this book?

You can use this book in different ways. It depends on your needs, and the time that you have.

- If you have a teacher, he or she may give you some advice about using the book.
- If you are working alone, you may decide to study the complete book from beginning to end, starting with unit 1 and working your way through to the end.
- You might find that it is better to choose which units you need to study first, which might not be the first units in the book. Take control of what you learn and choose the units you feel are the most important for you.
- You may also decide to use the book for reference when you are not sure about a particular grammar point.
- You can find what you want to learn about by looking at the Contents page.
- Please note that, if you do not understand something in one unit, you may need to study a unit earlier in the book, which will give you more information.

Study tips

- 1 Read the aim and introduction to the unit carefully.
- 2 Read the explanation. Sometimes there is a short text or dialogue; sometimes there are tables of information; sometimes there are examples with notes. These are to help you understand the most important information about this grammar point.
- 3 Don't read the explanation too quickly: spend time trying to understand it as well as you can. If you don't understand, read it again more slowly.
- 4 Do the exercises. Don't do them too quickly: think carefully about the answers. If you don't feel sure, look at the explanation again. Write your answers in pencil, or, even better, on a separate piece of paper. (This means that you can do the exercises again later.)
- 5 Check your answers to the exercises using the Answer key at the back of the book.
- 6 If you get every answer correct, congratulations! Don't worry if you make some mistakes. Studying your mistakes is an important part of learning.
- 7 Look carefully at each mistake: can you now see why the correct answer is what it is?
- 8 Read the explanation again to help you understand.
- 9 Finally, if the unit includes a Remember! box, then try really hard to remember what it says. It contains a special piece of information about the grammar point.
- 10 Always return: come back and do the unit's exercises again a few days later. This helps you to keep the information in your head for longer.

I want to improve my grammar

Good! Only using one book won't be enough to really make your grammar improve. The most important thing is you!

Of course, you need to have a paper or electronic notebook. Try these six techniques for getting the best from it.

- Make it real: It's probably easier to remember examples than it is to remember rules. Often, it's better to try to learn the examples of the grammar, not the explanations themselves. For example, rather than memorizing 'You can use the present simple to talk about the future', you should learn 'My holiday starts on Monday'.
- Make it personal: When you're learning a new structure or function, try to write some examples about yourself or people or places you know. It's easier to remember sentences about your past than someone else's! For example, 'I'm studying art this year'.
- Look out: Everything you read or hear in English may contain some examples of the new grammar you're learning. Try to notice these examples. Also, try to write down some of these examples, so that you can learn them.
- Everywhere you go: Take your notebook with you. Use spare moments, such as when you're waiting for a friend to arrive. Read through your notes. Try to repeat things from memory. A few minutes here and there adds up to a useful learning system.
- Take it further: Don't just learn the examples in the book. Keep making your own examples, and learning those.
- Don't stop: It's really important to keep learning. If you don't keep practising, you won't remember for very long. Practise the new grammar today, tomorrow, the next day, a week later and a month later.

I'm a teacher: how can I use this book with my classes?

The content of this book has been very carefully selected by experts from Language Testing 123, using the Common European Framework for Reference, English Profile, the British Council Core Inventory, the Collins Corpus and material created for Collins COBUILD English Grammar, Collins COBUILD Pocket English Grammar and Collins COBUILD English Usage. As such, it represents a useful body of knowledge for students to acquire at this level. The language used is designed to be of effective general relevance and interest to any learner aged 14+.

The exercises use a range of types to engage with students and to usefully practise what they have learnt from the explanation pages. There are a lot of exercises in each unit so it is not necessary for students to do all the exercises at one sitting. Rather, you may wish to return in later sessions to complete the remaining exercises.

The book will be a valuable self-study resource for students studying on their own. You can also integrate it into your teaching.

The explanations and exercises, while designed for self-study, can be easily adapted by you to provide useful interactive work for your students in class.

You can use the units in the book to extend, back up or consolidate language work you are doing in class. The Contents will help you choose which units are most appropriate.

You may also find that you recommend certain units to students who are experiencing particular difficulty with specific language areas. Alternatively, you may use various units in the book as an aid to revision.

Lesson plan

- 1 Read the aim and introduction to the unit carefully: is it what you want your students to focus on? Make sure the students understand it.
- 2 Go through the explanation with your students. You may read it aloud to them, or ask them to read it silently to themselves. With a confident class, you could ask them to read some of it aloud.
- 3 If there is a dialogue, you could ask students to perform it. If there is a text, you could extend it in some way that makes it particularly relevant to your students. Certainly, you should provide a pronunciation model of focus language.
- 4 Take time over the explanation page, and check students' understanding using concept-checking questions. The questions will vary according to content, but they may be based on checking the time in verb tenses. For example, with the sentence, 'She came on the train that got here yesterday', you could ask, 'When did she arrive?'. This might elicit the correct answer 'yesterday' and the incorrect answer 'tomorrow', and you would know if your students understood the meaning of the past simple verb. Or you could ask, 'Where is she now?' and correct answers would include 'here' while incorrect answers would include 'on the train'.
- 5 Perhaps do the first exercise together with the class. Don't do it too quickly: encourage students to think carefully about the answers. If they don't feel sure, look together at the explanation again.
- 6 Now get students to do the other exercises. They can work alone, or perhaps in pairs, discussing the answers. This will involve useful speaking practice and also more careful consideration of the information. Tell students to write their answers in pencil, or, even better, on a separate piece of paper. (This means that they can do the exercises again later.)

- 7 Check their answers to the exercises using the Answer key at the back of the book. Discuss the questions and problems they have.
- 8 If the unit includes a Remember! box, then tell students to try really hard to remember what it says. It contains a special piece of information about the grammar point.
- 9 Depending on your class and the time available, there are different ways you could extend the learning. If one of the exercises is in the form of an email, you could ask your students to write a reply to it. If the exercises are using spoken language, then you can ask students to practise these as bits of conversation. They can re-write the exercises with sentences that are about themselves and each other. Maybe pairs of students can write an exercise of their own together and these can be distributed around the class. Maybe they can write short stories or dialogues including the focus language and perform these to the class.
- 10 Discuss with the class what notes they should make about the language in the unit. Encourage them to make effective notes, perhaps demonstrating this on the board for them, and/or sharing different ideas from the class.
- 11 Always return: come back and repeat at least some of the unit's exercises again a few days later. This helps your students to keep the information in their heads for longer.

Adjectives (1)

Using prepositions to change the meanings of adjectives

In this unit you learn to use the right prepositions to change the meanings of the adjectives they follow.

Using the correct preposition

Some adjectives can be followed by a number of prepositions but the meaning changes depending on the choice of preposition. Look at the word good and six different prepositions that it can be followed by:

Do you know anyone who's good at mending bikes?

Mum was really good about the broken vase. She didn't get upset with me.

I should eat more fruit because I know it's good for me.

I'm not good with crowds. They make me anxious.

It was good of you to babysit last night. Thank you!

I've been so good to you, and you give me nothing back.

Here are some more adjectives that can be followed by different prepositions. Read the example sentences so that you can see the differences in meaning.

Adjective	Preposition	Example
accountable	for	I know what I'm doing and I'm accountable for my own choices!
	to	The administrative assistants are accountable to the head of the department.
afraid	of	Have you always been afraid of flying?
	for	I was really afraid for your safety. Sailing in a storm is dangerous!
bad	about	I feel really bad about forgetting Anna's birthday.
	at	I've always been bad at spelling.
	for	Everyone knows smoking is bad for your health with	I'm so bad with numbers. Maths has always been my weakest subject.
frightened	of	He's frightened of heights. That's why he'd never go mountain climbing.
	by	Horror movies don't usually bother me but I was really frightened by that film.
glad	of	It's great that I can give you a lift. I'll be glad of the company.
	about	He was really glad about his exam results.
	for	You won the competition! I'm so glad for you.
happy	at	She was happy at the idea of living in a new village.
	for	That's fantastic news! I'm so happy for you both.
	with	It took a long time to fix it, but he's very happy with the repair.
nice	about	I expected you to be far more angry with me. Thank you for being so nice about it.
	of	It was nice of him to take the time to talk to me.
	to	I like people who are nice to me.

responsible	for	Acid rain is responsible for considerable damage to the environment.
	to	The government is responsible to the National Assembly which has the power to force it out of office.
sorry	about	I'm really sorry about your mother's death.
	for	I do feel a bit sorry for her sometimes, although I'm sure she could make more of an effort.
upset	by	He was obviously quite upset by the remark.
	for	We were really upset for Pablo. What bad luck to get an injury just as he was establishing himself in the team!
	over	Martha got upset over something I said on Thursday evening.
	with	His supporters were upset with him for pulling out of the competition.

Exercise 1

Choose the correct word, as shown.

- You looked so pale and drawn, my love. I felt so sorry for / about you!
- Amy's a really good friend and I know I offended her. I don't feel very good about / for it.
- You don't have to thank me. I was just glad of / for the chance to return a favour.
- I thought I could trust Sebastian. I'm disappointed in / at him.
- I just don't want Grace to get hurt. I'm afraid of / for her because she doesn't seem to realize the risk she's taking.
- I can remember names but I'm really bad for / at remembering faces.

Exercise 2

Are the highlighted words correct or incorrect in this text?

Hi Gemma!

It was fun last night, wasn't it, even if it was a bit chilly in the garden? (We were really glad <sup>1</sup>of ☒ our sweaters!) It was really good <sup>2</sup>for ☐ you to help out when Jamie got so upset <sup>3</sup>over ☐ the dog last night – thank you so much! Poor Jamie has always been a bit anxious <sup>4</sup>around ☐ dogs. I don't know why he's frightened <sup>5</sup>about ☐ them. As far as I know, he's never had a bad experience with one. Is Joe OK this morning, btw? He looked so ill last night – I felt a bit sorry <sup>6</sup>for ☐ him, standing out there in the cold.

Ooh, Jamie's calling – better go!

Adjectives (2)

Using adjectives before and after nouns

In this unit you learn that some adjectives can only be used before a noun, while others are used after nouns.

Adjectives that do not come before nouns

When used with a particular meaning, some adjectives are normally used only after linking verbs like be. They are not used before nouns. You say The boy was asleep, NOT ~~an asleep boy~~, and you say The plant was still alive, NOT ~~an alive plant~~.

The following adjectives are normally used only after linking verbs.

alive	awake
hurt	ill
asleep	ready alight	sorry ashamed	sure glad	well
alone	alike

Remember!

Putting an adjective after a linking verb has the effect of focusing attention on the adjective.

Fortunately, there are other adjectives with similar meanings that you can use before the noun:

alive and living

I was the only living person in 100 miles.

asleep and sleeping

The sleeping boy woke up when the door opened.

hurt and injured

The injured animal ran away.

alike and similar

I have a similar coat to that one.

Other adjectives with similar meanings include:

afraid and frightened

alight and burning

alone and solitary

glad and happy

Adjectives with different meanings before or after the noun

There are a few adjectives that have a different meaning depending on whether they come before the noun or after it.

responsible

A responsible person would take charge of the situation and sort it out!

The person responsible for this terrible thing should be punished.

present

The present students are not so hard working, unlike last year's group.

I'd like to say 'welcome' to all the students present at this meeting.

concerned

There are a lot of extremely concerned people who are worried about the damage that this will do.

Much to the relief of the families, the four people concerned were located.

named

The investigation found that the named individuals and firms colluded to decide who would win contracts.

The certificate is issued to the individual named below and must be returned before May 20.

proper

Why don't you enrol in the University and take a proper course?

Applicants may be required to complete a period of preliminary study before they are admitted to the diploma course proper.

involved

To choose between so many top-class designs has, inevitably, meant a very long and involved process.

With the help of demonstrators, you can see the process involved in producing a finished piece of jewellery.

Adjectives that you can use after a noun

There are some adjectives that you can use after a noun when the noun has a superlative or first, last, only, every or any before it.

That's the best result possible!

I've got every book written on the subject.

He wrote the most beautiful poetry imaginable.

Exercise 1

For each sentence, tick the correct ending.

- She would never forget the ☐ afraid faces of the children as they clung to their parents.
☐ frightened faces of the children as they clung to their parents.
- To her surprise, in the back of the car she saw ☐ two sleeping babies.
☐ two asleep babies.
- The couples whose relationships endured were very compatible, with ☐ similar outlooks on life.
☐ alike outlooks on life.
- In dramatic scenes last night, three men were rescued from the ☐ burning building.
☐ alight building.
- In the distance, she spied
☐ a solitary figure.
☐ an alone figure.

Exercise 2

Are the highlighted words correct or incorrect in the sentences?

- According to the poll, Rickman is the 19th greatest living ☐ film star.
- With no alive ☐ relatives, and few surviving friends, Maggie is sometimes very lonely.
- Paramedics arrived within minutes and took the hurt ☐ passengers to Queen Anne Hospital.
- The injured ☐ soldiers were transferred to Rafah Central Hospital.
- It was such a delight to see the children's happy ☐ faces.
- So here's the question on every parent's lips: what does it take to raise glad ☐ children?

Exercise 3

Match the sentence halves.

- |  |  |

Adjectives (3)

Forming adjectives from participles

adjective/noun/adverb + -ing / -ed participle

In this unit you learn to use adjectives formed from -ing and -ed participles, compound adjectives formed from noun/adjective/adverb + participle and also adjectives formed from preposition + participle.

To: Helen From: Sophie
Subject: Nick's boss
Hiya Helen Guess what? We had dinner last night with Nick's boss, Al, and his long-suffering wife. (I really don't know how she puts up with him!) Al is one of the loudest, most opinionated people I've ever met, though not all bad. When you first meet him, his manner is quite off-putting, but you warm to him a bit as you get to know him. For one thing, he's very thick-skinned – you can say whatever you like to him and he's not offended. Also, he's quite easy-going. Nick, (my absent-minded boyfriend!), had completely forgotten to buy a gift to take, so we arrived empty-handed, but Al was really nice about it. Also, Nick hadn't warned me that he and Al would be wearing smart suits, so I did feel a little bit underdressed in my jeans!! Oh, postman at the door – must dash. Speak later Love Sophie

Adjectives formed from participles

Adjectives formed from the -ed participle

Most -ed adjectives have a passive meaning. They show that something has happened or is happening to the thing being described.

She's a very frightened woman.

He had a disappointed expression on his face.

We have a long list of satisfied customers.

We cannot refuse to teach children the required subjects.

A few -ed adjectives are related to intransitive verbs and have an active meaning.

Police are hunting three dangerous escaped prisoners.

She was wearing faded jeans and a T-shirt.

Adjectives with the same form as irregular -ed participles that do not end in -ed are also known as -ed adjectives.

Was it a broken bone or a torn ligament?

He had a a black eye and a swollen mouth.

The country road was blocked by a fallen tree.

Adjectives formed from the -ing participle

Some -ing adjectives describe the effect that something has on your feelings and ideas, or on the feelings and ideas of people in general. They can be used with words like very and rather and have comparatives and superlatives.

There has been an alarming rise in accidents on this road.

I had a very amusing evening.

The whole experience is still rather disturbing.

She spoke in a low voice that was far more frightening than a shout.

He is the most annoying man I have ever met.

Other -ing adjectives are used to describe a process or state that continues over a period of time. They are not used with words like very and rather but can often be modified by adverbs that describe the speed with which the process happens.

The rock band had a fast-growing number of fans.

When I am driving in a car, I get very frustrated by slow-moving traffic.

First time buyers are finding it difficult to keep up with rapidly-rising prices.

Adjectives formed from noun/adjective/adverb + participle

Compound adjectives are made up of two or more words.

These include:

adjective or adverb + -ed participle

low-paid, well-behaved

She went into her store, but came back empty-handed.

I was in a light-hearted mood.

adjective, adverb or noun + -ing participle good-looking, long-lasting, man-eating

There was no denying that Marta was quite a nice-looking girl.

Their behaviour had made them feared in the community, not least by their long-suffering neighbour.

He hung by one hand from his parachute strap in a death-defying stunt thousands of feet above the ground

noun + -ed participle tongue-tied, wind-swept

He was breathing heavily and looked panic-stricken.

Adjectives formed from preposition + participle

Some adjectives can be made from a preposition and a participle:

underdressed, overbearing, underachieving

Their gardens were overgrown with weeds and brambles.

He looked downcast and nervous.

The cake may be slightly underdone in the middle but it should be edible.

He was trying to sound casual, but I could hear the underlying tension in his voice.

The river was shadowed by overhanging branches.

Remember!

Compound adjectives are often written with a hyphen when they come before the noun, but without a hyphen when they come after the noun.

Exercise 1

Complete the sentences by writing one word in each gap.

Adjectives and adverbs

Adjectives and adverbs with different forms and meanings

In this unit you learn to use adjectives and adverbs that have the same form. You also learn to use adverbs that have two forms and meanings and other adverbs that have different meanings depending on their position in a clause.

Adjectives and adverbs that have the same form

Some adverbs of manner have the same form as adjectives and have similar meanings.

He's always listened to loud music.

These are the most common ones:

direct	right
fast	slow
hard	solo
late	straight loud	tight
quick	wrong

Adverbs that have a different meaning from their related adjectives

Some -ly adverbs have a different meaning from the meanings of their related adjectives. For example, hardly means not very much or almost not at all and is not used with any of the meanings of the adjective hard.

This has been a long hard day.

Her bedroom was so small she could hardly move in it.

Food was scarce and so was fuel.

They could scarcely believe their great good fortune.

Here are some adverbs ending in -ly that have a different meaning from the meanings of their related adjectives:

barely	presently hardly	scarcely
lately	shortly

Adverbs with two forms and meanings

Sometimes, two adverbs are related to the same adjective. One adverb has the same form as the adjective, and the other is formed by adding -ly.

There was plenty of room for the children to run free.

Packs of dogs ran freely, barking at the cars.

She woke up in the morning feeling fine.

Peel and finely chop the onion.

The shirt stretched tight across his chest.

Her skin stretched too tightly over her cheekbones.

Marcia opened her eyes wide.

Austria is widely regarded as one of the most expensive countries to visit.

Here are some common adverbs that have both these forms:

clear – clearly	hard – hardly clean – cleanly	high – highly close – closely	last – lastly
dear – dearly	late – lately
deep – deeply	right – rightly direct – directly	sharp – sharply easy – easily	thick – thickly fine – finely	thin – thinly first – firstly	tight – tightly
free – freely	wide – widely

Remember!

The -ly adverb often has a different meaning from the adverb with the same form as the adjective.

The water was running high.

He thought highly of his teacher.

She worked hard all year.

We could hardly hear him speak.

Exercise 1

Decide if the pairs of sentences have the same meaning.

- 1 A Would you just give me a direct answer, please? ☐
B Please answer me immediately.
- 2 A Meet me at 12 sharp. ☐
B Meet me at precisely 12 o'clock.
- 3 A My late grandmother taught me how to bake. ☐
B My grandmother, who died two years ago, taught me to bake.
- 4 A You're free to do whatever you want this afternoon. ☐
B This afternoon's activities are free.
- 5 A We're clean out of salad, I'm afraid. ☐
B I'm sorry, but we've no salad left at all.

Exercise 2

Which sentences are correct?

- 1 Fern arrived so lately that her friends had started to worry.
- 2 The chef chopped the onions and garlic finely before adding them to the hot pan.
- 3 Our seats were direct in front of the stage so we had a great view of the performers.
- 4 They arrived at 9 sharp, just as the meeting began.
- 5 The boy ran past at full speed, close followed by his brother.

- 5 He held the book close / closely to his chest and refused to let us see it.
- 6 She didn't speak very clearly / clear and I couldn't tell what she was saying.

Exercise 4

Are the highlighted words correct or incorrect in the sentences?

- 1 Security was very tight ☐ during the international athletics competition.
- 2 The kid came right ☐ up to me and stuck his tongue out.
- 3 It is wide ☐ understood that walking here alone at night is best avoided.
- 4 If you don't look sharply ☐ we're going to miss our train.
- 5 Sara freely ☐ admits that she was in the wrong.
- 6 The chewing gum stuck fast ☐ to the sole of my shoe.

Exercise 5

Choose the correct word, as shown.

My friend Lyn has been dating a guy for a few weeks. He swept her ~~clean~~ / cleanly off her feet at first with romantic meals and flowers, but <sup>2</sup>late / lately he seems to have cut out the extravagant gestures and I've heard him speak quite <sup>3</sup>sharp / sharply to her a couple of times, although he always apologizes <sup>4</sup>direct / directly afterwards. It doesn't seem <sup>5</sup>right / rightly to me but maybe I'm being <sup>6</sup>over / overly sensitive about it.

Choose the correct word.

She looked up <sup>1</sup>clearly / freely / sharply as I entered the room. 'What do you want?' she demanded. She was certainly very <sup>2</sup>direct / right / close, but I'd heard that was her way with newcomers to the firm. 'I wondered if you could show me how to organize the database?' I asked nervously. 'Sit down,' she ordered. I did as I was told, immediately noticing that her chair was much higher than my own. She turned her gaze <sup>3</sup>directly / rightly / tightly upon me. Her eyes were a <sup>4</sup>close / clear / clean, piercing blue, cold and <sup>5</sup>right / fine / sharp like her manner. 'I'll show you what to do but don't interrupt me while I'm speaking,' she said. My new boss was <sup>6</sup>clearly / freely / lately a woman who didn't like to waste time on pleasantries.

Exercise 7

For each sentence, tick the correct ending.

- 1 Adam had to go to see the headteacher
☐ because he had arrived lately to school.
☐ because he had arrived late to school.
- 2 Ali was ill yesterday,
☐ but today he's feeling fine.
☐ but today he's feeling finely.
- 3 Ines was so tired
☐ that she could scarce open her eyes.
☐ that she could scarcely open her eyes.
- 4 I hope I am feeling better in time for the wedding,
☐ because I would dearly love to go.
☐ because I would dear love to go.
- 5 However hard she tried to hit the ball,
☐ Lara couldn't do it rightly.
☐ Lara couldn't do it right.
- 6 Leo did well at school
☐ because he always hardly worked.
☐ because he always worked very hardly.
☐ because he always worked very hard.

Possessive adjectives

Using possessive adjectives and pronouns before -ing participles

In this unit you learn to use a possessive adjective or object pronoun before the present participle.

If you want to talk about two closely linked actions that are performed by different people, you follow the first verb with an object. This object then functions as the subject of the second verb. For example:

She saw Brian taking her diary.

I'd never caught Sita lying to me before.

Brian is the person who is seen. He is also the person who is doing the action of taking her diary.

Sita is the person who is caught. She is also the person who is doing the action of lying.

The ball hit Alfie in the chest and sent him sprawling to the ground.

Although it's a few years since my mother died, I can still picture her sitting at the table.

The look on Maria's face stopped him saying anything more.

I could hear her speaking to someone on the phone.

Remember!

When the second verb (or auxiliary) is an -ing participle, a possessive adjective is sometimes used in front of it, instead of a pronoun. This is rather formal.

He did not like my living in Paris.

His having been a Goth when he was a teenager came as a surprise to me, since he was now so conventional.*

The dog's barking kept me awake all night.*

Jane's being unemployed was starting to get me down.*

Some verbs are used with an object and an -ing participle in a less formal way.

She observed James walking down the road.

You can use these verbs with an object and an -ing participle:

catch	keep describe	leave
feel	like find	listen to hear	notice
imagine	observe

prevent save see send spot stop want watch

Exercise 1

Put the correct word in each gap.

us | them | His | their | me | her | him

Hi Jamie

How's tricks?

Zoe and I met up with Chaz and Luigi last night. They're great fun. I found out loads about Chaz I didn't know. He was telling us that he'd worked at an elephant orphanage in Sri Lanka for a while. He had <sup>1</sup> _____ all laughing at his stories. He said the elephants would see <sup>2</sup> _____ coming towards them with a cleaning brush and they'd take it from him and run away with it. <sup>3</sup> _____ having worked at such a place surprised me – he likes nothing better than to stay at home watching TV!

Zoe and Chaz seem to be getting on better these days. I watched <sup>4</sup> _____ chatting away like old friends. It used to bother <sup>5</sup> _____, listening to her complain about Chaz being boring. I don't like <sup>6</sup> _____ criticizing my friends – you want everyone to get on well, don't you?

Anyway, speak soon.

Chris

Exercise 2

Match the sentence halves.

- |                     |  |

- 6 Them having bought _____ own car at last was a relief to everyone.

those + participle adjectives

Using -ing and -ed adjectives with those, and in relative clauses

In this unit you learn to use participle adjectives after those. You also learn that you can use participle adjectives in relative clauses.

Using -ing and -ed adjectives with those

You can use a clause containing an -ed participle directly after those to show that something or someone has been produced or affected by an action.

All those made of paper quickly caught fire.

Those written before 1900 are very different in style.

Those sent to inpatient care are closely monitored until they are well enough to go home.

You can use a clause containing an -ing participle directly after those to show that someone or something is doing something.

All those going to London should pay the deposit today.

Those containing errors will be returned immediately for correction.

Those making today's deliveries will start loading at 6 a.m.

Defining relative clauses

You can sometimes reduce a defining relative clause to the -ed or -ing participle adjective that follows it without changing the meaning. For example:

- We looked through the papers which were lying on the table.*
We looked through the papers lying on the table.
You'll get on well with the man who'll be leading your tour.
You'll get on well with the man leading your tour.
The decisions that had been made by the directors were very poor.
The decisions made by the directors were very poor.

2 All those _____ (want) to attend the after-school club should put their names on the list.
3 All those _____ (concern) about the new policy should take it up with the Head of Transport.
4 All those _____ (wish) to travel to Cairo, please go to Gate B.
5 All those _____ (intend) to stay for the lecture, please remain seated.
6 All those _____ (affect) by the job cuts will be compensated for their losses.

Exercise 2

Find the wrong or extra word in each sentence, as shown.

- 1 All those competitors ~~w~~ remaining in the room have passed the final test – well done!
2 The men were running away from me must have been the ones who'd stolen my money.
3 I couldn't be bothered to open the book that lying on my bedside table.
4 The boy was playing a game on his phone looked up as I sat down next to him.
5 I approached the man who sitting by the entrance door.

6 The competition judging / judged by the famous photographer had some great prizes.

Relative clauses

Whom and which

In this unit you learn to use more complex relative clause structures.

Relative pronouns with prepositions

A relative pronoun can be the object of a preposition. The preposition usually goes towards the end of the clause, and not in front of the pronoun.

- ... the job which I'd been studying for.
- ... the boy who Aunt Sophie left her money to.
- ... questions that there were no answers to.

The preposition can go at the beginning of a clause in front of whom or which but this is usually in more formal English.

- ... the job for which I'd been studying.
- ... the boy to whom Aunt Sophie left her money.
- ... questions to which there were no answers.

Remember!

You cannot put the preposition at the beginning of a clause in front of who or that.

Relative clause structures introduced by determiners, quantities and superlatives

Words such as some, many and most can be put in front of of whom or of which at the beginning of a non-defining relative clause.

- A group of men, all of whom were armed, surrounded us. These men, the tallest of whom was about seven foot, were clearly angry.*
- At the door of the hospital we were greeted by the patients, most of whom were children.*
- There are hundreds of species native to the island, many of which are endangered.*

Relative clause structures followed by infinitive clauses

An infinitive clause can be put after of whom, of which or with which.

- They wanted money with which to buy food for their families.*

Exercise 1

Which sentences are correct?

- 1 I have a new app for my phone which can identify songs that are being played. ☐
- 2 This is the cottage in what she lived for most of her life. ☐
- 3 I had three great friends with whom I went travelling in the holidays. ☐
- 4 I did some gardening for an elderly neighbour, for whom I was paid £6 per hour. ☐
- 5 We were given plastic cutlery with which to eat our food. ☐
- 6 There was a large oak tree, under whom we sheltered until the rain had passed. ☐

Exercise 2

Choose the correct word or words.

- 1 The career for what / which / that he had given up so much was now in ruins.
- 2 She didn't recognize the man who / whom / which had spoken.
- 3 He wanted a companion with whom / who / which he could share his love of nature.
- 4 Each of them were given a pile of wood and some rope with which construct / constructing / to construct a raft.
- 5 Who / Whom / From whom gave you the money to buy the car?
- 6 He wrote extensively about the tribe from who / from which / from that he had learned so much.

Exercise 3

Put the correct word in each gap.

writer | confidence | girlfriends | friends | youngest | house

While researching the life of the poet James Arnull, I spoke to several of the <sup>1</sup> _____ with whom he grew up in a small Welsh village. All of them remember the energy and <sup>2</sup> _____ with which he approached everything in life, from friendship to work to love. Arnull was always a handsome boy, and he had several <sup>3</sup> _____, some of whom have found themselves the subject of his poems.

Arnull had three brothers, the <sup>4</sup> _____ of whom died at 11 in a car accident – a tragedy that he says has been with him ever since. He lives with Wendy Casey, a Canadian <sup>5</sup> _____, with whom he has three children. The large <sup>6</sup> _____, to which they moved in 2005, is crammed with souvenirs from their frequent travels to China and Cambodia.

Exercise 4

Complete the sentences by writing one word in each gap.

Conditionals

Using conditionals to express formality conditional + if + should conditional + if + were to inversion of conditionals

In this unit you learn other ways of using conditionals to express uncertainty and/or formality. You also learn how to form inversion of conditionals by not using the if conjunction.

Conditionals with if + should

A more formal way of talking about a possible future situation is to use should in the conditional clause. For example, instead of saying If the letter arrives tomorrow, I will reply immediately, you can say If the letter should arrive tomorrow, I will reply immediately.

If you should see him, tell him I called.

If that should happen, you will be blamed.

Conditionals with if + were to

Another way of talking about a possible future situation is to use were and a to-infinitive in a conditional clause. For example, instead of saying If you went to France next year, I would go too, you can say If you were to go to France next year, I would go too.

If you were to marry him, I would never speak to you again.

If we were to move to Nottingham, we would be able to buy a cheaper house.

Inversion in conditionals

If the first verb in an if-clause is should, were or had, this verb is sometimes put at the beginning of the clause and if is omitted. For example, you can say Should I be there, I will speak to them* instead of If I should be there, I will speak to them.

Should ministers demand an inquiry, we would welcome it.*

Were they to stop advertising, prices would be significantly reduced.*

Had I known what you wanted, I'd have called.*

You can call our toll-free number, should you require assistance.

Remember!

Inversion tends to be used in formal or literary English.

Exercise 1

Decide if the pairs of sentences have the same meaning.

- 1 A Were she to ask my opinion, I'd tell her what I think. ☐
B It's not very likely she'll ask for my opinion, but if she does, I'll tell her.
- 2 A If you were to be elected, what changes would you make? ☐
B What changes would you have made if you'd been elected?
- 3 A Had I tried harder, I might have done better. ☐
B I didn't try very hard, so I was lucky to do that well.
- 4 A If the post should come early, can you put it on my desk? ☐
B The post might come early. If it does, can you put it on my desk?
- 5 A Should you wish to talk to me, you know where I'll be. ☐
B You know where to find me if by any chance you want to talk to me.

Exercise 2

- 4 If the car were to break down again, I wouldn't bother trying to fix it yourself.
- 5 Had I realized you were waiting for me in the hall all that time, I'd get ready more quickly.
- 6 He'd have refused to pay the builders, had he realized how little work had been done.

Exercise 6

Write the missing words in sentence B so that it means the same as sentence A.

- 1 A If it wasn't for Petra, Amir would never do any travelling.
B _____ not for Petra, Amir would never do any travelling.
- 2 A If I played this computer game all day, do you think I'd get to the end of it?
B If I were _____ this computer game all day, do you think I'd get to the end of it?
- 3 A If by any chance the door's locked when you arrive, use this key.
B Should the door _____ when you arrive, use this key.
- 4 A If I'd known you were coming, I'd have baked a cake!
B Had _____ you were coming, I'd have baked a cake!

Ways of using as and though

In this unit you learn to use concessive clauses to show a contrast between two statements. You can do this by using an adjective or adverb followed by as, though, much as, as though, as if, as for + noun/pronoun or as to + noun.

adjective/adverb + as or though

though

When a clause beginning with though ends with a linking verb like be or seem and a noun or an adjective (= a complement), you can bring the complement forward to the beginning of the clause. For example, instead of saying Though he was tired, he insisted on coming to the meeting, you can say Tired though he was, he insisted on coming to the meeting.

Tempting though it may be to cheat, it is not acceptable.*

I have to believe him, improbable though his story is.

Astute businessman though he was, Philip was capable of making mistakes.*

Strange though it seems, we have never properly sat down and talked about this issue.*

Surprising though it may seem, most fires in people's homes are caused by the careless use of chip pans.*

as

When the complement is an adjective, you can use as instead of though.

Stupid as it sounds, I believed her.*

Charming as it may be to outsiders, the way of life is one that many people wish to escape.*

When a clause beginning with though ends with an adverb, you can put the adverb at the beginning of the clause.

Using much as

When you are talking about a strong feeling or desire, you can use much as instead of although. For example, instead of saying Although I like Venice, I couldn't live there, you can say Much as I like Venice, I couldn't live there.

Much as I like you, I couldn't marry you.*

Much as I'd like to go to the cinema, I have to stay in and write my essay.*

Much as I hate to admit it, he was right.*

Much as they hope to go home tomorrow, they know they have to stay on until the end of the year.*

Using as though and as if

You sometimes want to say that something is done in the way that it would be done if something else were the case. You do this by using as if or as though. You use a past tense in the clause of manner.

- He behaved as though he owned the place (= he does not own the place).
- She carried on as if nothing had happened (= something has happened).
- She acted as though she had no idea who I was (= she does know who I am).
- I put some water on my clothes to make it look as if I had been sweating (= I had not been sweating).

Using as for + noun/pronoun or as to + noun

You can use the prepositional phrases as for and as to to introduce a new topic or a different aspect of the same topic.

- As to what actually happened on that day, there are many differing accounts.
- We will continue to invest in the company. As for our staff, they will receive more targeted training.
- He had heard it said that time heals all wounds. As to that, he doubted it.
- As for what I've told you about last night, we'll keep it quiet as much as possible.

Exercise 1

Match the sentence halves.

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| 1 Much as I'd prefer to come to the concert, | a she's actually very talkative socially.                      |
| 2 Challenging as she may be,                 | b I'm not inviting her to my wedding.                          |
| 3 Intelligent though she appears,            | c Mohammed didn't realize Sarah was annoyed with him.          |
| 4 Obvious though it was to everyone else,    | d she didn't do very well in her degree.                       |
| 5 Much as I like her,                        | e I'm going to ask her to join our team.                       |
| 6 Quiet as she is at work,                   | f I'm afraid I have to go and watch my daughter's school play. |

Exercise 2

Decide if the pairs of sentences have the same meaning.

Using it as an object in sentences

it* + adjective/noun + clause

it* + person/institution + to-infinitive

In this unit you learn to use it in a number of ways.

To: Belle From: Helen Subject: Phil's birthday

Hey Belle!

How's life? I've been really busy recently, what with organising Phil's 40th birthday party. I'm not keen on organising stuff because I find it a bit stressful. I think it'd be easier if I had someone to help me out with it but I want it to be a surprise so I'm keeping it to myself for now. My biggest problem is knowing who to invite. Phil won't like it if I forget anyone important. So I'm going through his address book to make sure I get it right.

You know my brother's a DJ? I'm going to leave it to him to sort out the music – he knows what Phil likes.

Hopefully I can make it a party to remember! Watch out for your invite in the post.

Helen

it* after find, think, make, etc.

After verbs like find and think, you can use it as the object, followed by an adjective, and either a to*-infinitive or a that*-clause.

I found it strange that he kept silent.

The thick snow made it difficult to see very far in front of me.

it* after see, regard, etc.

After verbs like see, take and regard, you can use it as the object, followed by as, followed by an adjective or noun and a clause.

They'll regard it as insulting if we don't accept the present.

He saw it as a sign that things were about to improve.

it* after like, love, hate, etc.

After verbs like love, like and hate, you can use it as the object, followed by a clause with when or that.

My cat loves it when you stroke her neck.

I hate it when Jane keeps me waiting.

They didn't like it that we refused their invitation.

Here are some more verbs that are used in this way:

adore	like
dislike	loathe
enjoy	love
hate	prefer

it* after owe and *leave

After verbs like owe and leave, you can use it as the object, followed by a person/institution and a to*-infinitive.

I'll leave it to you to choose which cake we have.

You owe it to your country to work as hard as you can.

Exercise 1

Match the sentence halves.

- |                           |  |

Using comparative structures for cause and effect

The sooner, the better

the + a comparative adjective, adverb or noun, the + a comparative adjective, adverb or noun or verb

In this unit you learn to use the comparative structure the + a comparative adjective, adverb or noun to show simultaneous cause and effect.

The more birds the cat eats, the fatter the cat will get.

You can show that one amount of a quality or thing is linked to another amount by using two contrasted comparatives preceded by the.

The longer we stay, the harder it will be to leave.

The more the atoms vibrate, the hotter the wire becomes.

The less I see of him, the better.

The more I find out about her, the less I want to get to know her.

Remember!

The two clauses have a comma between them.

Exercise 1

☐ the less you will pay in tax.
☐ less you will pay in tax.

Using -ing clauses after certain verbs

verb + object + -ing clause

In this unit you learn to use complementary -ing clauses after certain verbs. Many of these verbs are about our senses.

To: Sandy
From: Dan
Subject: Leather factory
Hi Sandy How are you? What have you been up to? I went to a leather factory yesterday as part of my course. It was very smelly and noisy. When you went in you could hear the workers cutting animal skins into regular sizes on machines. Then we moved on to the next part of the process and you could smell the skins boiling in some sort of solution – it was disgusting! Mind you, I usually find visiting factories boring – this certainly wasn't! Anyway, when we got to the end of the process and I touched some leather lying on a workbench, it was like silk – so soft and delicate. The guy taking us round explained that there are lots of different qualities of leather and he got us grading some samples. He was really good at promoting the industry; he had us all seriously considering it as a career option. And you never know, I might go into it. See you Dan

You can use an -ing clause after certain verbs plus an object.

I smelt the roses growing outside the window.

Did you watch the children playing football?

I found them having an argument.

She'll get everyone talking to each other.

There are a number of verbs that can be used in this type of clause.

Many of them are verbs about our senses:

hear	listen to feel	notice
smell	watch

However, there are other verbs that can also be used in this way:

find	catch
get	leave have

Focusing sentences (1)

Using it

it + be

In this unit you learn to use focusing sentences with it.

One way of focusing on a particular part of a sentence is to use a split sentence. This involves using the verb be, either with it as an impersonal subject or with a clause such as a relative clause or a to-infinitive clause.

If you want to emphasize one noun phrase, you can use It is or It was and follow it with a relative clause. For example, instead of saying Sarah gave the right answer, you may want to stress the fact that Sarah did it by saying It was Sarah who gave the right answer. In the next two sentences, you can see how you can use It is or It was to focus on different parts of the sentence:

It was Colin who married my sister.

It was my sister that Colin married.

Similarly, instead of saying Betty makes cakes, you can say It's cakes that Betty makes.

It's food that he wants.

It's younger children that Maria most enjoys teaching.

It's money that he needs, not advice.

It was his sense of humour that she missed the most.

Remember!

In some cases, the that in the that-clause can be omitted.

It's money he needs, not advice.

In a split sentence, you usually focus on a noun phrase. However, you can focus on other clause elements or even on a whole clause. You then use a relative clause beginning with that.

In order to stress the circumstances of an event, you can make a prepositional phrase, a time adverbial or an adverb of place the focus of a split sentence.

It was from her dad that she first learned to drive.

Could it have been then that I first realized I was in love?

It was in London that I met my first boyfriend.

Was it then that you decided to become a lawyer?

You can also focus on an -ing form if you are stressing an action.

It was getting a car that really started me off on my career.

It was seeing the expressions on the faces of the patients that persuaded me.

It was going to South America as a teenager that made Anya love travelling.

You can focus on a clause beginning with because to stress the reason for something.

Perhaps it's because we're from the same place that we get on so well with each other.

It is because you are there that your child can sleep peacefully after an operation.

I suppose it was because she didn't ask for money that I offered it.

Exercise 1

Match the sentence halves.

- |                                     |  |

Exercise 3

Put the correct word in each gap.

that's | not | who | wasn't | there | who's | it | been

Hi Ellie

I'm thinking of going to the Lake District on holiday and I seem to remember <sup>1</sup> _____ was just last year that you went there. I think you said you booked a cottage to rent through a website. It <sup>2</sup> _____ www.lakes42.co.uk that you used, was it? Or could it have <sup>3</sup> _____ BandBLakes.com? It's my sister Julie <sup>4</sup> _____ really wants to go there rather than me – she loves sailing. I really wanted to go to a city but it's <sup>5</sup> _____ me who gets to choose this year, it's Julie's turn. Would you say it's autumn <sup>6</sup> _____ the best time to go to the lakes? What would you recommend?

Love

Anna

Exercise 4

Decide if the pairs of sentences have the same meaning.

- 1 A Could it have been in London that you saw Phil?
B Could it have been Phil that you saw in London? ☐
- 2 A It's Mike who's going to do the presentation tomorrow, not Simon.
B Simon is the one who's going to do the presentation tomorrow instead of Mike. ☐
- 3 A It'll be two years in January since we opened this restaurant.
B We opened this restaurant two years ago in January. ☐
- 4 A It's those black boots next to the red shoes that I'd like to try on.
B I'd like to try on the black boots first and then the red shoes. ☐
- 5 A I'm sure it was this report on population growth that had a section missing.
B I'm sure the report on population growth has been corrected. ☐
- 6 A Why is it always me who gets asked to work late?
B I'm fed up with always being asked to work late. ☐

Exercise 5

Are the highlighted words correct or incorrect in the sentences?

- 1 It ☐ is Jane who should complain, not us.
- 2 It was in Rio de Janeiro who ☐ I learned to dance the samba.
- 3 Who is it that ☐ you wish had won the competition?
- 4 Do you think they're ☐ the 500-metre race that's the most difficult for her?
- 5 It couldn't have been ☐ the manager who stole the money, surely!
- 6 I don't think it was a Friday which ☐ we flew to Sydney.

Exercise 6

- 3 Could it have had in New York that you first ate sushi? ☐
- 4 It's me which will have to take the blame. ☐
- 5 It'll be the kitchen who we redecorate first, and then the bathroom. ☐
- 6 Was it Jamie who put these flowers on my desk? ☐

Focusing sentences (2)

Using what

what + be

In this unit you learn to use focusing sentences with what referring to the object or the subject.

Study skills

Welcome to course DD101.

What you need to do first is to read the study companion.

On 4 October, what you must do is register online. You can then access all the course material. What has been a problem in the past is the students forgetting their password, so write it down somewhere safe.

On the website, what you should look at and make a copy of is the study schedule. What this tells you is the term dates and all your assignment dates. If you think you won't be able to meet an assignment deadline, what you must do is inform us straight away.

If you want to focus on an action performed by someone, you can use a split sentence consisting of what followed by the subject, the verb do, the verb be and an infinitive with or without to. For example, instead of saying I called Polly immediately, you can say What I did was to call Polly immediately.

What you have to do is to choose your courses for next year.

Clauses with what as their subject are sometimes used to focus on the thing you are talking about. They can be put after the verb be as well as in front of it. For example, you can say His idealism was what caught my attention, as well as What caught my attention was his idealism.

What annoyed me most was their dishonesty.

These topic areas are what constitute this week's lessons.

If you want to focus on the thing that someone wants, needs or likes, you can use a split sentence beginning with a clause consisting of what followed by the subject and a verb such as want or need. After this clause, you use the verb be and a noun phrase referring to the thing wanted, needed or liked. For example, instead of saying We need a bigger garden, you can say What we need is a bigger garden.*

What he wanted was a cup of tea.*

What you need is a dentist.*

Here is a list of verbs that can be used with what in this structure:

adore	loathe
dislike	love
enjoy	need
hate	prefer
like	want

Remember!

If you do not want to mention the performer, you can use a passive form of the verb.

What's needed is patience.*

Exercise 1

Match the sentence halves.

- |                                    |                                 |
|------------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| 1 What you could add to your essay | a is sell cosmetics online.     |
| 2 What I'd like to know is         | b why she hadn't told us first. |
| 3 What she's chosen to do is       | c is a little more salt.        |
| 4 What this company does           | d is more examples.             |
| 5 What we couldn't understand was  | e how are we going to get home? |
| 6 What this soup could do with     | f study fashion design.         |

Exercise 2

Are the highlighted words correct or incorrect in the sentences?

- What I can't understand is ☐ how you managed to save so much money.
- What she did ☐ now is work part-time for a charity.
- What we had forgotten was ☐ to take an umbrella.
- What we do ☐ is invest in small IT companies.
- What Frank wants ☐ is less responsibility.
- What have ☐ been stolen is my wallet.

Exercise 3

Find the wrong or extra word in each sentence.

- What happens is, when you fill out the application form and they contact you by email.
- What you do with is your own business.
- What I tend to do is that smile, nod and pretend I understand.
- What works is to holding your nose and counting to 20.
- What I couldn't understand about was why they hadn't phoned.
- What does surprises me most is that she's achieved so much and yet she's still only 21.

Exercise 4

Write the missing word or words in sentence B so that it means the same as sentence A.

- A I don't know why they decided to do it today.
B _____ I don't know is why they decided to do it today.
- A He bought a small gold chain.
B _____ a small gold chain.
- A She sells antiques.
B _____ sell antiques.
- A Concrete evidence is lacking.

- What she _____ was turn off all the electricity.
- What _____ gone missing was the file on James Bond.
- What I _____ realize at the time was that the dessert contained coffee. I would never have guessed.
- _____ is puzzling me is, why didn't he lock the door?

Using to-infinitive clauses as subject/object

In this unit you learn to use to-infinitive clauses as subject or object.

You can place a to-infinitive clause after nouns in order to show what the thing referred to is intended to do.

The government set up a programme to develop new varieties of corn.
We need employees to work in the new call centre.
They gave me a call to check if I would consider rejoining the team.
He was looking for someone to organize the tennis tournament.

You can refer to something or someone that should or can have something done to them by using a clause containing a to-infinitive after a noun or indefinite pronoun.

I make lists in the front of my diary of things to be bought.
She recruited local people to be trained in Hong Kong.
There were fences to be mended and tiles to be repaired.

You can use a clause consisting of a to-infinitive followed by a preposition.

There wasn't even a chair to sit on.
He had nothing to write with.
Leila was glad to have someone to talk to.
At least we now have a goal to aim at.
She had everything in the world to live for.

A to-infinitive clause can be used when you want to say what you are talking about, for example, the first, oldest, or only person who did something. For example

Maureen Stuart was the first woman to be elected to the council.
Reagan had become, at seventy-four, the oldest man ever to hold the presidency.
Of the seven children born to the Gibbons, Edward was the only one to survive to adulthood.

A clause containing a to-infinitive is used after some abstract nouns to show what action they relate to.

Adults who didn't have the chance to go to school when they were children can go to night school.
She resisted the desire to let her eyes close again.
Idoia welcomed any opportunity to practise her English.

Exercise 1

Match the sentence halves.

- |   |  |

Using negatives with reporting verbs

think, expect, believe and seem

In this unit you learn to use negatives with reporting verbs such as think, expect, believe, seem, etc. This is called transferred negation. You also learn when transferred negation is not used.

Reporting verbs with a negative

With a small number of reporting verbs, you usually make the reporting clause negative rather than the reported clause. For example, you would usually say I don't think Mary is at home rather than I think Mary is not at home.

Don't you suppose he's heard the news already?

He doesn't believe that I'll win.

They don't seem to be expecting us.

I don't imagine it is possible to have a successful club without a good manager.

I do not expect that we will have a balanced budget in this current financial year.

She didn't think that it was Mohammed's fault.

The following reporting verbs are often used with a negative in this way.

believe	reckon
expect	seem feel	suppose imagine	think propose

Reporting verbs where negation can't be transferred

With other verbs it is the reported clause that takes the negative form. The reporting verb stays in the positive and the negative cannot be transferred. You usually say I assume you haven't heard, NOT I don't assume you have heard.

I hope the euro doesn't get any weaker.

I suspect we won't hear from him again.

She promised she would never do it again.

I would guess she didn't profit that much.

They concluded that death was not due to natural causes.

The doctor predicted that she would never run again.

The following reporting verbs are examples of verbs not used in the negative.

accept	deny admit	feel agree	guess
allege	hope
argue	predict assume	presume
claim	promise
concede	stress
conclude	suggest confess	suspect declare

Remember!

Usually the that in the that-clause is not used.

I guess ~~that~~ the minister won't retire.

Exercise 1

Match the sentence halves.

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| 1 It's rumoured that management aren't too impressed with him. I don't reckon | a he'll be in this company too much longer. |

"Great customer service"

○○○○○ Reviewed 6 November 2012

We arrived at the hotel in the early evening and were given our room keys / our room keys were given to us. We were delighted to discover that we had been allocated the best room in the hotel / the best room in the hotel had been allocated to us. A porter carried our cases up for us and demonstrated how to use the air conditioning. We certainly needed it, because it was a hot and humid night.

We ate at a very good restaurant that was recommended to us by the hotel receptionist, and went back to the hotel feeling very happy.

Unfortunately, the air conditioning proved to be so noisy we couldn't sleep, and when we phoned reception to complain, they explained that there was a fault in the system and an engineer would be called the next day, which wasn't much good to us! However, we were given a large discount to make up for the inconvenience.

Stayed November 2012, travelled on business

When you use a passive form of a verb with two objects such as send, pay, buy, give, teach and show, either the direct object or the indirect object can become the subject. For example, instead of The firm paid the sales staff a bonus, you can say A bonus was paid to the sales staff, where the direct object of the active clause (the bonus) is the subject of the passive clause.

The indirect object (sales staff) can be mentioned after to or for.

Sometimes it is unnecessary to mention the indirect object at all.

A bonus was paid at the end of the year.

But you can also say The sales staff were paid a bonus, where the indirect object of the active clause is the subject of the passive clause.

I'm sure the letter was sent to Laura.

The dog was bought for him as a birthday present.

The children do not speak Gaelic at home, though they are taught it in school.

He was shown a photocopy of the certificate.
I was given this necklace by my grandmother.

Remember!

There are some verbs that can have two objects but can only have one passive form. For example, you can say They explained the situation to the manager. However, there is only one possible passive, one that starts with the direct object, The situation was explained to the manager. You cannot say The manager ~~was explained~~ the situation.

Verbs such as want, demonstrate, exclude, emphasize, deliver behave in the same way.

Exercise 1

Write the missing words in sentence B so that it means the same as sentence A.

Future perfect

Making predictions about the future will / should + have + -ed participle will / should + have been + -ing participle

In this unit you learn to use the future perfect and the future perfect continuous for prediction of the present or future.

By the end of the year, I will have won the junior championships. When I finish high school, I will have been training on my own for a long time but by the time I'm twenty I will have started training with a professional coach – and by the time I'm thirty I will have got a gold medal at the Olympic Games!

Future perfect

The future perfect is formed by using will or shall, followed by have and the -ed participle of the main verb. You can use it to talk about something that has not happened yet but will happen before a particular time in the future.

Even after a year, they won't have forgotten you.

By next week we will have reached the end of the project.

By that time, I shall have left the country.

Remember!

You must indicate the specific future time referred to by using a time adverbial or another clause.

This structure can also be used to make predictions or assumptions about the present time.

As you will have noticed, there are no ashtrays.

She will have found my note by now.

By the middle of June all my new furniture will have arrived.

Future perfect continuous

If you want to indicate the duration of an event at a specific time in the future, you can use the future perfect continuous.

By the time the year ends, I will have been living here for eighteen months.

How long will you have been studying Greek when you finish this course?

At Christmas, Ana will have been working at the company for a year.

Remember!

You need to use a time adverbial to indicate the future time and an adverbial of duration to state how long the event will last.

Exercise 1

Choose the correct word or words.

- 1 By the time we get to the party, all the food will go / have gone, won't it?
- 2 When they see Leon's haircut, they'll get / have got a shock!

Exercise 3

Complete the sentences by writing one word in each gap.

realized | married | seen | marrying | been | before | by

- 1 The car will have been repaired _____ the time Paddy finishes work.
- 2 Their wedding was in 1990, so in 2020 they will have been _____ for 30 years.
- 3 Do you think the postman will have delivered my birthday cards _____ I go to school tomorrow?
- 4 How long will you have _____ waiting if the bus doesn't come until 6.30?
- 5 Paola won't have _____ that the play is starting early – shall we phone her?
- 6 I bet they won't have looked on the table so they won't have _____ our note.

Exercise 4

Are the highlighted words correct or incorrect in the sentences?

- 1 He'll have been teaching ☐ at this school for six years by this time next month.
- 2 When I take my Spanish exams in May, I'll only have been studied ☐ it for three months.
- 3 Kitty will have left school by the time Robbie starts ☐.
- 4 I know Giuseppe won't have ☐ washed up. He never does!
- 5 When we've painted this room, we will have done ☐ the whole house.
- 6 The train leaves in an hour – have you finished ☐ packing by then?

Exercise 5

Find the wrong or extra word in each sentence.

- 1 The train will have left by the time we shall get to the station.
- 2 I'm going into town on Saturday, but the jeans I want will probably have being sold out by then.
- 3 When the Smiths will leave tomorrow evening, we'll have had a whole weekend of their complaining!
- 4 The restaurant will have close before we get there if you don't hurry up.
- 5 Don't worry, that noise will only have been made my brother's motorbike.
- 6 The rain is forecast to carry on until Tuesday, by which time it will have been caused the river to overflow its banks.

Exercise 6

Write the correct form of the verb in brackets to complete each sentence.

- 1 We'll be at the cinema in half an hour – will the film _____ (start) by then?
- 2 Do you think the baby will have _____ (go to sleep) by the time I come home?

- 6 I _____ (not think) those guests will have understood a word the receptionist said.

Should and the subjunctive

Using reported clauses with and without modals

In this unit you learn to use should in an object clause. You also learn that when you leave out the modal you form the subjunctive.

Submitting assignments

It is imperative that assignments be handed in on or before their due date. We request that students inform their course tutors as soon as they realize that their deadline will not be met. That students agree on a new due date with the tutor is also a requirement. When assignments are submitted late, marks will be deducted from the score awarded for the work, according to how late they are. So it is clearly vital that students make every effort to meet their submission deadlines.

It is strongly advised that students read very carefully the rules and guidelines given to them at the beginning of their course.

Remember!

- Students should hand in their assignments on or before the due date.
- Students should inform their course tutors that the deadline will not be met.
- Students should agree on a new date with the tutor.
- Students should make every effort to meet the deadline.
- Students should read the rules and guidelines carefully.

Should

When someone makes a suggestion about what someone else should do, you report it by using a that-clause. In British English, this clause often contains a modal, usually should.

They recommended that the proposal should be accepted.

The subjunctive

When you leave out the modal, the verb in the reported clause still has the form it would have if the modal were present. This verb form is called the subjunctive.

They recommended that the proposal be accepted.

It was his doctor who advised that he change his job.

I suggested that he bring them all to the party.

He insists that the regulations be followed.

It + be + important, etc., that + subjunctive

You can also say that something is important or necessary by using a sentence beginning with the impersonal pronoun it, followed by is, an adjective such as important and a that-clause. As above, you can leave in the modal, or remove it to form the subjunctive.

It is essential that the minister (should) be informed immediately.

It is vital that you (should) know precisely what's happening.

Exercise 1

Complete the sentences by writing one word in each gap.

pay | should | asked | get | train | be | join

- 1 We decided it was vital that we should _____ a good night's sleep before our journey.
- 2 Is it really necessary that Bill _____ so hard?
- 3 Dave _____ that I sing a few songs at the concert.
- 4 They've proposed that the footpath _____ be closed while work is carried out on it.
- 5 Jackson has suggested that I _____ his band.
- 6 When we broke his car window, the man next door demanded that we _____ for it immediately.

Exercise 2

Decide if the pairs of sentences have the same meaning.

- 1 A The band leader suggested the guitarist play faster. ☐
B The band leader always wants the guitarist to play louder. ☐
- 2 A Anja insisted on me being the one who went to the show. ☐
B Anja insisted that I should be the one to go to the show. ☐
- 3 A How much hay did Eleanor ask that we give each horse? ☐
B How much hay did Eleanor tell us to give each horse? ☐
- 4 A It is essential that we be united in our approach to the problem. ☐
B We must solve all our problems at once. ☐
- 5 A It's most important that an injured person stay warm. ☐
B Most importantly, an injured person must stay warm. ☐

Exercise 3

Match the sentence halves.

- |  |                           |
|--|---------------------------|
| 1 It is essential that the area in front of the school entrance always | a be sold to raise funds. |
| 2 The teachers are insisting that the school tie                       | b be reduced.             |
| 3 It is not desirable that pupils                                      | c be kept clear.          |
| 4 Some of the children have requested that their homework load         | d be worn.                |
| 5 It has been proposed that some of the school playing fields          | e be driven to school.    |

Exercise 4

Write the simple past form of the verb in brackets to complete each sentence.

- 1 Would you recommend that jackets be _____ (wear) for the trip?
- 2 It _____ (be) absolutely vital that you listen carefully to these instructions now.
- 3 How much food do you suggest that we _____ (take)?
- 4 Group leaders have requested that you _____ (leave) expensive gadgets at home.
- 5 Some of the parents suggested they should _____ (accompany) their children.
- 6 It _____ (be) necessary that we book the bus for the trip last June, to ensure we got the right vehicle.

Exercise 5

Find the wrong or extra word in each sentence.

- 1 Who on earth suggested the canteen to be painted bright purple?
- 2 It is vital that everyone should be understand the safety procedure.
- 3 It's not essential that all employees approve it the new design, as long as most do!
- 4 My friends recommended us that we should eat in the Greengate Café.
- 5 Can I just ask for that the cat be well looked after while we're away?
- 6 It is vital that Tilly must see the doctor as soon as possible.

Avoiding repetition by omitting to-infinitives

In this unit you learn to avoid repetition of the main verb by omitting the to-infinitive (with or without the need to retain the to).

To: Julia
From: Ella
Subject: James

Hi Julia

Good to hear from you!

You asked after James. Actually, I don't see as much of him as I'd like to. (Mind you, I'm to blame – I was supposed to call him last night and completely forgot!) I think he's happy – he certainly deserves to be. Such a lovely guy.

Don't know about you but I need a holiday. I'd fly off somewhere hot tomorrow if I could afford to. I hate my job. I'd resign if I dared to, but then I'd have even less money.

Anyway, I've got some work to do before bedtime, if I can bear to, that is. Very dull!

I'll call tomorrow for a chat.

Much love
Ella

In order to avoid repetition, you can leave words out of to-infinitive clauses. Instead of using a full to-infinitive clause after a verb, you can just use to if the action or state has already been mentioned. Instead of He failed his exam but I don't think he deserved to fail it, you can say:

He failed his exam but I don't think he deserved to.

Remember!

You can also do this in conversation to avoid repeating what the other person has said.

A Do you ever visit a doctor?

B No. We can't afford to.

Exercise 1

Match the sentence halves.

- |                                    |  |
|------------------------------------|--|
| 1 I wondered                       | a you could give Simon a lift.           |
| 2 I was hoping                     | b Simon getting a lift with you?         |
| 3 Were you planning                | c give Simon a lift?                     |
| 4 Did you think you could          | d might give Simon a lift?               |
| 5 Was there a possibility that you | e to give Simon a lift?                  |
| 6 Is there any chance of           | f if you would mind giving Simon a lift? |

Exercise 2

Put each sentence into the correct order.

- 1 borrow / I / hoping / was / to / car tonight / . / your

- 5 Were you trying to find the exit? ☐
- 6 I just wanted to ask you if you could move your car – it's blocking the road. ☐

Exercise 7

Complete the sentences by writing one word in each gap.

- 1 I was _____ if I could have another cup of coffee?
- 2 Would it be possible to book the hall for tomorrow, we _____ wondering?
- 3 I just wanted to _____ you a question.
- 4 Was _____ a refund or a credit note that you wanted?
- 5 We wondered _____ we might come and visit you later?
- 6 Were _____ any problems that I could help you with?

Sentence connectors and conjunctions

In this unit you learn to use conjunctions between clauses in a sentence and connectors between sentences. This helps you to form coherent texts when you write or speak.

Connections between clauses in a sentence

When you put two clauses into one sentence, you use a conjunction to link them and to show the relationship between them.

They went by bus because it was cheap.

The cake looked wonderful, but it was too dry to eat.

Jalila had learnt to cook in order that her mother could have a day off sometimes.

Her sister told her nothing about it, except that the event had taken place.

He put the book back in place just as it had been.

You can use one of the following conjunctions:

Connections between clauses in a sentence

Coordinating conjunctions	and but or
Conjunctions used in purpose clauses	in order that so as to so that
Conjunctions used in reason clauses	because in case since
Conjunctions used in concessive clauses	although despite even if except that not that whereas while
Conjunctions used in clauses of manner	as like just as

Connections between sentences

You use sentence connectors to show what sort of connection there is between one sentence and another.

She struggled with the problem of gaining weight. Furthermore, there was no advice that helped.

'You are what you eat' does have some truth to it. By the same token, before we are born, we are what our mothers eat.

She didn't know how long he might be. In the meantime, she could only sit there waiting.

You can introduce a related comment or an extra reinforcing piece of information using one of the following connectors:

Connections between sentences

To compare with something already mentioned	also as well furthermore moreover
To add a fact that illustrates the same point as the one you have just made, or a suggestion that has the same basis	again by the same token equally likewise
To contrast with the previous sentence or give another point of view	alternatively by contrast conversely even so however nevertheless on the contrary on the other hand rather then again
To say that the fact you are mentioning exists because of the fact or facts previously given	accordingly as a result consequently hence therefore
To indicate that something takes place after or before an event that you have already mentioned or at the same time as that event	at the same time beforehand finally in the meantime later meanwhile next previously simultaneously soon subsequently throughout

Are the highlighted words correct or incorrect in this text?

Adam was going to be speaking to you this morning, but unfortunately he's unable to be here. <sup>1</sup>Consequently ☐, I've been asked to say a few words about the launch of this product. <sup>2</sup>However ☐, before I start I'd like to look back, for a moment, on the last two years. I think we'd all agree it's been a challenging undertaking and we've encountered our fair share of problems. <sup>3</sup>Hence ☐, it's been exhausting and, at times, frustrating. <sup>4</sup>Furthermore ☐, it's been extremely enjoyable and rewarding. <sup>5</sup>Furthermore ☐, I think we've all learned a lot along the way. <sup>6</sup>Therefore ☐ I think we can all be very proud of ourselves and proud of the product that we've jointly created.

Exercise 2

Rearrange the letters to find words. Use the definitions to help you.

- 1 rofherete _____ (used to introduce a logical result or conclusion)
- 2 whemanile _____ (while a particular thing is happening)
- 3 heewras _____ (used to introduce a comment which contrasts with what is said in the main clause)
- 4 ewohrev _____ (used when you are adding a comment which is surprising or which contrasts with what has just been said)
- 5 yb snortact _____ (used to show that you are now mentioning a very different situation from the one you have just mentioned)
- 6 venretehsels _____ (used when saying something that contrasts with what has just been said)

Exercise 3

For each sentence, tick the correct ending.

- 1 I have two dresses in my wardrobe whereas ☐ my sister has 23.
☐ I need a couple more.
- 2 We had a tiny house and very little money. Nevertheless,
☐ we were quite dissatisfied with our lives.
☐ we were perfectly content with our lives.
- 3 We had our health and enough money to live on. Furthermore,
☐ it wasn't enough.
☐ we had each other.
- 4 I had spent all but $50 of my budget. Consequently,
☐ I was living on a meagre diet of bread and water.
☐ I was still having a marvellous time.
- 5 There is a limited supply of apartments on the campus. Therefore ☐ we are confident that we will be able to provide you with accommodation.
☐ we recommend that you apply for housing before the official deadline.

Exercise 4

Decide if the pairs of sentences have the same meaning.

- 1 A This is by no means an easy task. Nevertheless, we persevere, trusting that our efforts will be rewarded.
B This is by no means an easy task, but we persevere, trusting that our efforts will be rewarded. ☐
- 2 A I spent a modest £30 on my trainers. By contrast, my husband spent £120 on his!
B I spent a modest £30 on my trainers, whereas my husband spent £120 on his! ☐
- 3 A It was an exhausting trip and not without stress. Nevertheless, we found it useful and in parts, even enjoyable.
B It was an exhausting trip and not without stress. However, we found it useful and in parts, even enjoyable. ☐
- 4 A We arrived at 9 o'clock. Consequently, the bus had already left. ☐
B We arrived at 9 o'clock but the bus had already left.

Exercise 5

Which sentences are correct?

- 1 Our headquarters are currently being refurbished. Meanwhile, we're using the building opposite as a temporary office. ☐
- 2 The job isn't ideal in that I have to travel too much and the hours are long. However, it's not all bad. ☐
- 3 It's a lovely, spacious apartment and it's in a very nice part of town. Furthermore, it's very close to where I work. ☐
- 4 The company I work for are great actually, and my colleagues are first-rate. Nevertheless, I'd like to stay with them for a few years. ☐
- 5 No one was willing to give evidence in court. Accordingly, the case was dropped. ☐
- 6 Sara does a job share for 20 hours a week, whereas I do something very similar. ☐

Exercise 6

Choose the correct word or phrase.

- 1 I have a tiny, one-bedroom apartment in the city. Meanwhile / Nevertheless / Therefore, my sister has a huge house in the country.
- 2 I lived on my own. Consequently / Hence / However, I wasn't lonely.
- 3 He never went out and met anyone. Consequently / By contrast / Nevertheless, he didn't have any friends to speak of.
- 4 People generally admire Michael professionally. Nevertheless / Therefore / Furthermore, they like him as a person, and that's definitely more important.
- 5 She wasn't the most reliable of colleagues and her behaviour was quite erratic. Furthermore / Nevertheless / Meanwhile, she could be quite inspired and she was fun to work with.

Which, whose, how much and how many

Asking questions about things outside the main clause

In this unit you learn to use pushdown questions with which, whose, how much and how many.

In pushdown questions, the thing being questioned is not directly in the main clause, it is only part of an element, for example, part of the object, part of an adjunct or part of a subordinate clause.

If the main clause is Mike caught measles, then Whose child did Mike catch measles from? is a pushdown question because it questions part of the adjunct. However, Who did Mike catch measles from? is not a pushdown question because it questions the adjunct in the main clause.

If the main clause is I bought presents for the children, then How many presents costing under £5 did you buy for the children? is a pushdown question because it questions part of the adjunct that is not in the main clause. However, How many presents did you buy for the children? is not a pushdown question because it questions the adjunct in the main clause.

Examples of pushdown questions:

Which of our neighbours did you meet the son of?

This is a pushdown question because it does not question the main clause but a prepositional phrase that is part of the object. However, Which of our neighbour's sons did you meet? is not a pushdown question as it is questioning the main clause: I met your neighbour's son.

How much of the free time you had at the weekend did you spend watching TV?

This is a pushdown question because it questions part of the adjunct that is not in the main clause. However, How much time did you spend watching TV? is not a pushdown question as it is questioning the main clause: I spent time watching TV.

Examples that are not pushdown questions:

How much time do you need to finish your work?

This is not a pushdown question because it questions the object in the main clause: You need some time.

Exercise 1

Match the sentence halves.

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| 1 Which aspect of the research                          | a lead you to search for additional sources on the same subject?     |
| 2 What was the precise point                            | b had to be discarded after you realized they were inaccurate?       |
| 3 What have the responses to the survey you carried out | c led you to expect with regard to likely future trends?             |
| 4 Which figures did you say                             | d do you consider most likely to present difficulties in writing up? |
| 5 Do you know the title of the journal                  | e at which you realized that your theory was untenable?              |
| 6 Where did your initial findings                       | f in which the article you're looking for appeared?                  |

Exercise 2

Complete the sentences by writing one phrase in each gap.

are you planning | will you ask | was the questionnaire | do researchers often find
do you think is used | need to be considered | do you consider it

- How useful _____ to draft an outline of an essay before writing it?

Decide if the pairs of sentences have the same meaning.

- 1 A How many shoes costing under £20 do they sell in the shop? ☐
B How many shoes do they sell in the shop?
- 2 A Whose book did you tell the teacher you had borrowed? ☐
B When you told the teacher you had borrowed a book, who did you say you borrowed it from?
- 3 A How much money did you say that her father earns in a year? ☐
B Tell me how much money her father earns in a year.
- 4 A Which of the college rules is considered by you to be the most important? ☐
B Which of the college rules do you consider to be the most important?
- 5 A Which shelf are the clothes that you're wearing to the party on? ☐ B Can you show me the shelf where the clothes that you're wearing to the party are?
- 6 A Did you say how long Matthew is staying for? ☐
B How long did Matthew say that he would be staying for?

Exercise 7

For each sentence, tick the correct ending.

- 1 The experiment was to see ☐ which sort of tree trapped the most air pollution.
☐ how much of the trees trapped the most air pollution.
- 2 Amelia asked him
☐ whose daughter he had taken her to the cinema.
☐ whose daughter he had taken to the cinema.
- 3 Which of the chairs
☐ did you make a cover for?
☐ made you a cover for?
- 4 How many of the apples that we picked at the weekend
☐ you put in the pies?
☐ did you put in the pies?
- 5 Nobody knew
☐ whose essay Michel had copied his from.
☐ whose essay did Michel copy his from.
- 6 How much of their worktime
☐ do staff spend speaking on the phone?
☐ do staff spend to speak on the phone?

Phrasal verbs (1)

Two-word phrasal and prepositional verbs

In this unit you learn to use two-word phrasal and prepositional verbs and the correct position of the object.

There is a special group of verbs formed of two or three words. These are called phrasal verbs. They consist of:

a verb followed by an adverb:

They sat down.

The music gradually died away.

a verb followed by a preposition (sometimes called a prepositional verb):

She looked after her sick mother.

She fell down the steps.

Don't count on James.

Remember!

The nouns at the end of the examples above (sick mother, the steps, James) are objects of the prepositions and not direct objects of the verbs. Therefore the noun phrase always comes after the preposition, even when it is a pronoun.

Don't count on him. NOT Don't ~~count him on~~.

When you are using a phrasal verb with an object that is a short noun phrase, you usually have a choice as to where you put the object. It can be placed either after the second word of the phrasal verb or after the first word and before the second word.

He filled up his car with petrol.

She filled my glass up.

When the object consists of a long noun phrase, it is more likely to come after the second word of the phrasal verb.

Officials have been asked to hold back all documentation relating to the court case.

He promised to give away five per cent of all of his future earnings to charity.

I knocked over the table at the side of her bed as I walked past.

When the object is a pronoun it usually comes before the second word of the phrasal verb. This is because it is not new information, and so it is not put in a position of prominence at the end of the clause.

I waited until he had emptied it out.

He tied it up and threw it into the car.

If the object of a phrasal verb is an abstract noun such as hope, confidence or support, it usually comes after the second word of the phrasal verb.

We are hoping to build up confidence in the company.

She didn't hold out much hope for their return.

With a small number of phrasal verbs, the object is always placed between the first and the second words of the verb. For example, you can say *I can't tell your brothers apart but not I can't ~~tell apart your brothers~~. Here are some more examples:

The headmaster was ordering everybody about.

He answered his father back.

Remember!

Some phrasal verbs have more than one transitive sense. For example, take back has the object between the first and the second word when it means remind someone of something but when it means regain something the object can come in between or at the end.

Exercise 1

Are the highlighted words correct or incorrect in this text?

Hi Sammy

Thanks for your email – it was lovely to find your news from home when I <sup>1</sup>switched on my computer this morning.

I started my Swedish course on Monday, and so far it's been really good. There's a huge amount of new language <sup>2</sup>for me to take in, so I'm working hard after classes as well as at school.

<sup>3</sup>The course goes on till 6 every evening, so it's quite intense! I feel like I'm <sup>4</sup>picking them up very slowly but that's probably because there's such a lot to learn. I've started writing my first assignment today and we've got to <sup>5</sup>hand in next Friday. I've made some great new friends, and we all <sup>6</sup>hang us out together when we have any free time.

Write again soon

Anita

Exercise 2

For each sentence, tick one or two correct endings.

- 1 This old car is always breaking ☐ it down.
☐ down.
☐ itself down.

| 6 I'd finished all my coursework but I forgot to hand          | f it out. |

Phrasal verbs (2)

Three-word phrasal and prepositional verbs

In this unit you learn to use three-word phrasal and prepositional verbs and the correct position of the object.

To: Alun
From: Laura
Subject: Meeting with Antonio
Hello Alun I had a meeting with Antonio yesterday and he let me in on the deal. We are going to go to two other businesses and get them both to make us an offer. Then we are going to play the two of them off against each other. We'll take the highest bidder. It could be a tricky negotiation though and I'm not sure what I've let myself in for. Regards Laura

Some phrasal verbs consist of three words: a verb, an adverb and a preposition. This type of verb is sometimes called a phrasal-prepositional verb. Most three-word phrasal verbs are intransitive. The preposition at the end is followed by its own object.

His girlfriend walked out on him.

They got away with overcharging us for six months.

How did you put up with it?

A few three-word phrasal verbs are transitive. The direct object of the verb comes immediately after the verb. A second noun phrase is put after the preposition, as normal.

They tried to turn us out of our home.

Bill tried to talk them out of it.

Who put you up to this trick?

These are some transitive three-word phrasal verbs:

do out of	put down to frighten out of	put up to let in for	take out on let in on	take up on play off against	talk out of put down as	turn out of

Exercise 1

Choose the correct words or phrases.

- Nicola looks really well at the moment. I put it down to / down to it the fact she's changed her job.
- I'm so disappointed that our holiday was cancelled. I was really looking forward to a break / looking forward a break to.
- Martin argued with his girlfriend, but now he wants to make her up with it / it up with her.
- Good teachers always look students out for / out for students who might be struggling to keep up.
- Jim always stood up for what he believed in / what he believed in up for and people respected him for that.

Exercise 2

Put the correct word or words in each gap.

up | him | back | you | his stuff | college | me

Hi Stef

Hope you found your bike lock key and you managed to get <sup>1</sup>_____ to your flat OK yesterday? It was great to catch <sup>2</sup>_____ with everyone again after the holidays, especially Tom. He's so nice, I don't think anyone could ever fall out with <sup>3</sup>_____. I'm glad he's decided not to drop out of <sup>4</sup>_____. He's going to live in halls of residence this year and I've offered to help him move all <sup>5</sup>_____ into the flat on Tuesday. If you're around then, it would be great if you could come and help <sup>6</sup>_____ and Tom out with the move.

Are you in tonight? I could pop over to see you.

Bye for now

Ned

Exercise 3

Write the words in brackets in the correct order to complete each sentence.

3 It doesn't matter. Please put it out of your mind. ☐

4 Why were you turned away from the club? ☐

5 He and Marti had never got each other on well with. ☐

6 What did you get up to in Greece? ☐

Inversion (1)

Inversion after so + adjective, such + be, neither and nor

In this unit you learn to use structures that require inversion to give emphasis or show a shared negative between two parts of a sentence. Inversion means that you swap the normal position of the verb and the subject.

Inversion after so + adjective

You can use so to emphasize an adjective. For example, you can say It's so cold today. You can also put the so + adjective at the beginning of the sentence, but the verb and the subject must be inverted. You say:

So well-funded was the research that results were achieved within months NOT ~~So well-funded the research was.~~

So successful were the kits that the group's toy division soon became too big for the company to handle.

So angry was he with his father that Ben didn't talk to him for a few years.

Inversion after such + be

If you want to emphasize a noun or noun phrase use such + be. Again, the subject and the verb be need to be inverted.

Such were the problems at the airport that no planes took off for several hours.

Such was her fear that she refused to drive on the motorway.

Such was the noise that none of them heard David when he spoke again.

Such were the pressures of the business that Ines had to return to work three days later.

Inversion after neither and nor

You also use inversion after neither and nor when you are saying that the previous negative statement also applies to another person or group.

We aren't going to Spain this year, and neither are the Watsons.

I don't know where my phone is, nor does anyone else!

I've got nothing to lose, and neither has Michelle.

He himself isn't talking, and nor are his lawyers.

Exercise 1

Choose the correct words.

- 1 I wasn't interested in history and neither was Eva / Eva was.
- 2 Our problems were so great / so great were that we had to give up the journey.
- 3 So splendid was the palace / the palace was that even the emperor was impressed.
- 4 My computer isn't working and nor my phone is / is my phone.
- 5 Such was her dismay / her dismay was at the news, I thought she might faint.
- 6 My brother is such a liar / such a liar is that I never know whether to believe him.

Exercise 2

Match the sentence halves.

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| 1 We aren't going to Spain this year,        | a I decided to make an excuse and leave. |
| 2 Such was the panic as we ran outside that  | b and neither are the Watsons.           |
| 3 So relieved were his parents that          | c and nor has my wife.                   |
| 4 I've never been abroad,                    | d they forgot to reprimand him.          |
| 5 Such was the awkwardness of the situation, | e and neither did I.                     |
| 6 Kirsty didn't want to go skiing,           | f I forgot to pick up my handbag.        |

Exercise 3

Complete the sentences by writing one word in each gap.

B So _____ that I barely had enough money to pay the bill.
- 6 A My brother and my father both hate opera.
B My brother doesn't like opera and neither _____.

Inversion (2)

Inversion after negative adverbials

In this unit you learn to use inversion in structures that use negative adverbials to give emphasis.

Inversion occurs when broad negative adverbs or other negative adverbials are put at the beginning of a clause for emphasis. This structure is used in formal speech and writing to show something is surprising or original in some way.

Never

Never have I experienced such suffering.

Barely

Barely had the film ended when everyone got up to go.

Seldom

Seldom has hard work been so rewarded.

Rarely

Rarely has so much money been wasted by an individual.

Only once

Only once have I declined their invitation.

No sooner ... than

No sooner had I seen the man than he disappeared.

Scarcely

Scarcely had he got up when someone started hammering at the front door.

Little

Little did he realize what would happen to him.

Not once

Not once did they think to ask how I was.

Not in a

Not in a thousand years would I agree to marry you.

Remember!

Inversion also occurs in formal speech and writing after adverbials preceded by only.

Only with exceptional luck will you win anything.

Only when the music stopped did Sue finally stop dancing.

Exercise 1

Match the sentence halves.

- |                                 |  |
|---------------------------------|--|
| 1 Never has there been a        | a he launched into a torrent of accusations. |
| 2 Seldom have I encountered     | b when I was not reminded of Larry.          |
| 3 No sooner had Carla woken     | c for our opinion on the matter.             |
| 4 Rarely did a day go by        | d such despair in one so young.              |
| 5 Not once did he think to ask  | e than she insisted on calling Max again.    |
| 6 Scarcely had we sat down when | f better time to invest in gold.             |

Exercise 2

Complete the sentences by writing one word in each gap.

realize | express | achieve | seen | fall | entered

- Rarely have I _____ such a magnificent floral display.
- Never in his life would he _____ such success again.
- Only once did she _____ short of her own high standards of honesty.
- Not once did he _____ any doubts about his course of action.
- Barely had he _____ the room when Olivia started shouting wild accusations at him.
- Little did we _____ what difficulties lay ahead of us.

Exercise 3

Put each sentence into the correct order.

- did we suspect / had the document / all along / . / Little / that she had
_____
- Only after / . / spot the repair / was it / careful examination / possible to
_____
- was the problem / the armed forces / . / than within / more evident / Nowhere
_____

_____
- this disease / children with / . / so many / had I seen / Never before
_____
- when chaos / Barely had / in the hall / broke out / . / the speaker finished
_____

Exercise 4

Decide if the pairs of sentences have the same meaning.

- 1 A Never had I been so frightened in my life. ☐
B I had never been so frightened before.
- 2 A Rarely has there been a more popular prime minister. ☐
B Prime ministers are usually unpopular.
- 3 A Only with a great deal of effort did we complete the work. ☐
B We made a great deal of effort and completed the work.
- 4 A No sooner had I mended the chair than Michael broke it again. ☐
B Michael broke the chair just before I mended it again.
- 5 A I usually dined alone in the evenings. ☐
B Seldom was there an evening when I dined alone.
- 6 A I only locked up for the night after the last people had left. ☐
B Only when the last people had left did I lock up for the night.

Exercise 5

Which sentences are correct?

B Neither _____ room.
- 5 A I had hardly finished my dinner when he called.
B Hardly _____ when he called.
- 6 A She didn't thank us once.
B Not once _____.

Inversion (3)

Inversion after as and than

In this unit you learn to use inversion in structures that compare or show similarity between two different things.

Inversion after as

As can be followed by an auxiliary verb (or the verb to be) which is inverted with the subject. The structure indicates a similarity between the two things compared in the sentence. For example, *The sitting room was found to be filthy, as was the kitchen focuses on the fact that both rooms were similarly dirty.

Our neighbours refused to pay the money, as did we once we knew the plumber was overcharging.

James is going to go to the local school, as will Harry when he's old enough.

Inversion after than

Than can be followed by an auxiliary verb (or the verb to be) which is inverted with the subject. The structure indicates a comparison between things or people. For example, People living in the countryside have fewer leisure opportunities than do those living in the city focuses on the comparison between the two groups of people.

The stars of US films are often better known than are the stars of our own, home-grown cinema.

Delegates attending my afternoon session will have a shorter lunch break than will those attending Mr Wilson's session.

Exercise 1

Match the sentence halves.

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| 1 Learning in a class is, for me, far more effective          | a than do those with larger type.      |
| 2 A printed dictionary is nicer to use                        | b than doing it online.                |
| 3 Learning my third and fourth languages seemed easier        | c than do those that are more relaxed. |
| 4 Tired and stressed students remember less                   | d than did learning my second.         |
| 5 Books that have very tiny print seem harder to understand   | e than an online version, I think.     |
| 6 Doing my shopping at the supermarket is more time-consuming | f than learning independently.         |

Exercise 2

Find the wrong or extra word in each sentence.

- 1 Henry always gave his children stunning birthday presents, as they did his mother and father.
- 2 Bus ticket prices will rise in the new year, as will rise train and underground prices.
- 3 Pedro and Nina have just started as going dancing on a Friday night, as have their friends Mike and Tanya.
- 4 The vegetables we get from Mr Tyson's shop are more fresher than those we buy anywhere else.
- 5 Facial expressions can communicate more feelings than can express words.
- 6 My sister has got a boyfriend at the University of Hong Kong, as has got my friend, Natasha.

Exercise 3

Choose the correct word.

- 1 The train station is usually very busy in the mornings, as / than is the bus station.
- 2 Klaus is passionate about painting, as / than is his father.
- 3 Tom followed the leader, as was / did the rest of the climbing group, up the south side of the peak and finally to the top.
- 4 The books on the tables in the centre of the shop sell much more quickly than do / sell those on the shelves.
- 5 I'd like to offer you many congratulations on your engagement, as had / would everyone else in my family.
- 6 The people who had arrived earliest got a much better view of the performance than did / had the rest of us.

Exercise 4

Write the correct form of the verb in brackets to complete each sentence.

- 1 Children who _____ (eat) healthily generally behave better in school than do those with unhealthy diets.
- 2 Katy _____ (have) a natural ability to run fast, as does her brother.
- 3 House prices in the east of the country _____ (increase), as did those in the south.
- 4 Johnnie had _____ (know) Jorge for ten years, as had Jim, before they set up a business together.
- 5 Travelling has _____ (teach) me much more than has reading thousands of books.
- 6 I _____ (still wait) for my results, as is everyone who took the exam on 20 May.

Exercise 5

Complete the sentences by writing one word in each gap.

- 1 The horse escaped through the open gate, as _____ the cows.
- 2 Athletes need to eat a lot more carbohydrates than _____ people who exercise little.
- 3 Simon thought that the hotel was superb, as _____ most people who stayed there.
- 4 My great aunt Janie looks more like me than _____ anyone else in my family.
- 5 His latest thriller will in the future be recognized as a masterpiece, as _____ his three earlier works.
- 6 Teri's got much more self-confidence than _____ many people of our age.

Exercise 6

Which sentences are correct?

- 1 Children attending the morning swimming classes will have longer sessions than will those in the afternoon. ☐
- 2 The names of French wines are still better known than do the wines of most other nations. ☐
- 3 Some of the singers at the festival were worse than were those at my five-year-old daughter's school concert! ☐
- 4 The ferry left on time, than did the train and the bus that I had to take to get to the meeting. ☐
- 5 Gerald will be pleased with the outcome of our discussion, as will Harry, I think. ☐
- 6 After the interview Jane was sure, as did her interviewer, that she would be the right person for the job. ☐

Exercise 7

Are the highlighted words correct or incorrect in the sentences?

- 1 The front door was open, as was ☐ the outer door.
- 2 After the operation, your hand will feel tight, as will do your lower arm ☐.
- 3 Indoor plants need more light and water than do ☐ the same plants outdoors.
- 4 When asked who was responsible, Lucia remained silent, as did ☐ the others.
- 5 Doctors are better equipped to make these decisions as are ☐ the patients.
- 6 Frozen foods retain more nutrients than do retain those ☐ which are tinned.

Inversion (4)

Inversion after adverbials of place

In this unit you learn to use inversion in structures that add emphasis to the position or motion of the subject.

To add emphasis and drama to speech or writing it is possible to have adverbs of direction or place at the beginning of a clause, followed by a verb of motion and a noun subject. The verb and subject are inverted.

Down the stairs came the queen, dressed in a silk gown.
Out went the soldier, into the dark night.

However, if the subject is a pronoun, you put it before the verb, so there is no inversion.

Down the stairs she came.
Out he went, into the dark night.

In written English, adverb phrases introduced by prepositions such as in the corner can be followed by verbs indicating position, such as crouch, hang, lie, stand, etc., followed by a noun subject.

From the ceiling hung party decorations.

Again, if you use a pronoun as the subject, you put it before the verb, so there is no inversion.

From the ceiling they hung.
In the corner it stood.

You can follow here and there by the verbs be, come and go and a noun subject. Used at the beginning of the sentence, here and there carry more stress than they do when they come after the verb and there is usually a difference in meaning.

There is Jasmine.*
There goes our train.*
Here comes the food.*

If the subject is a pronoun, it comes before the verb, so there is no inversion.

There they go.*

Exercise 1

Match the sentence halves.

- 1 On the seat lay
- 2 Down came the rain
- 3 Up we went in the lift
